Navigating Culture: Islam and Encounter in the Indian Ocean World

An exhibit of Claremont Colleges Library Special Collections materials reflecting the movement of people, culture, and ideas between the continents of Africa and Asia, through the Indian Ocean, and spanning the 7th – 19th centuries.

The exhibit is curated by Anisha Bhat (Pomona College ’15), Anna Kramer (Pomona College ’16), and Special Collections staff, Ayat Agah and Gale Burrow, in collaboration with Arash Khazeni, Assistant Professor, Department of History, Pomona College. This exhibit and corresponding events have been made possible in part by the Office of Foundation and Corporate Relations at Pomona College.
